Subject: When will the HATE STOP in Eastpoint!

Team JP - As you all know I moved to East Point at the end of September. I've been going to the city council meetings and tonight is just the tip of the iceberg. I am coming back home and I am beyond utterly mortified at what I am seeing. I am BEYOND appalled at the conduct, lack of professionalism, lack of knowledge, the level of ignorance, disrespect, and lack of fiscal responsibility that the two bitches on council are exhibiting. I am sickened to my stomach at how some of these people got elected into office. I IMPLORE anyone who is capable of going to these meetings to show up. Yes, I'm the new kid on the block and don't have all of the context or the background that many of you have. But seeing it first hand from the last two council meetings I've been to and now the work session, I'm to a point that I'm furious that those ghetto bitches are making any decisions regarding our taxpayer dollars. We truly need to get the word out to people in all of East Point to get to these meetings and DEMAND better from the representatives of their wards. It's grossly unacceptable at what I've seen and heard tonight and we should not tolerate any of it from those two black ghetto bitches!

• Andrew Nelson Good for you for getting involved. I am sure there are good government and civic groups that would be happy to grab your passion to improve the city.

• Deb Aziz Unfortunately those two council members act worse at work sessions because they are not streamed live (and recorded to be shown later on our cable access channel) so less people will see them act fool.

• Jarrett 'Jarr' Bell Deb, that is my problem. I chastised them ghetto bitches at the last council meeting for being on camera and acting unprofessional and unbecoming of public servants. Some apparently they didn't get the message as they are in the work session acting the same way. To borrow a line from comedian and Clean House host Niecy Nash, it is a bunch of "mayhem and foolishness." I don't care for it to say the least. But more importantly, the fact some are acting fiscally irresponsible is UNACCEPTABLE. Heather, I've heard from many people this is tame. Channel 2 has ran multiple stories on East Point and I would like for a change the stories to be positive. We need positive attention not this negative baggage that people around the area are used to hearing. Katrina, the council meetings are the first and third Mondays at 630 pm at the Jefferson Station council chambers at the corner of E Forrest and Norman Berry Drive. It's held on the fourth floor.

• Brian D. Frey Jarrett the more that you chastise them the worse it gets. TRUST ME...we have all seen it. They actually thrive on being chastised because it gives them 10x more reason to be the way that they are. Though it is in no way an excuse, I echo what others say- it ain't NOTHIN like it was before, NOTHIN. I wish you the best of luck, but EP politics have been rife with this type of behavior and non sense. The voters put these folks where they are when they had clear choices. It truly is all about getting out to the polls. All of that said, there is absolutely nothing that can be done until the last election cycle. Holding them accountable, filing ethics complaints...yada yada yada, does NOT work in the City of East Point.

Jarrett 'Jarr' Bell Brian, while I understand what you're saying, we can't resign ourselves to letting the council do what they please when it's not our interest. We as taxpayers have to be engaged and hold their feet to the fire. They need to know somebody is watching. The voting taxpayer will need to do their job and vote the unprofessional and childish ones out. It's good to hear things are a bit better than how they were in the past. I'm hoping sooner than later the ones who are holding back progress are ushered to the door in the next election.

Brian D. Fray from your mouth to God's ears. I just suppose that I have seen and heard so much in EP in only 5 years, that it will certainly take someone like yourself who is not yet accustomed to this type of behavior, to challenge it. Best of luck- and I mean that.

Margie Thorpe Jarrett, I have been politically active since I was a child (and I am far from that now) and since I moved to East Point, I have switched to state politics only because you give and give and sit thru ridiculous meeting after ridiculous meeting and still you get nowhere. The best I can hope for East Point is that one day these people age out of leadership roles. Meanwhile we quietly own our homes and hope for sanity. Hapeville, thankfully has pro business leadership and is improving our neck of the woods quite a bit.

Deb Aziz Jarrett, thanks for taking the time to attend the meetings and for speaking up. Unfortunately you have some personality types who are convinced their way is the 1000% right way and if you disagree, they will ignore you. People need to take more consideration into a candidate's personality when they vote. We need people who will step back and really look at the facts without a filter. We also need folks who will work with those who they disagree with on matters they do. When it comes to politics at this level, voting for the person who happens to share your views on issues isn't enough. IMHO. I myself have spoken before council in the past saying that you can disagree with someone with out being disagreeable. And even if they have "shown their ass."
